INTRODUCTION

Note: All languages other than English have been removed from this electronic document due to limitations of the OCR software used to convert from printed form. [JJ]

This document contains all the assemblies and parts sold as spares; it enables one to determine with precision their numbers and to identify them easily by the illustrations. These assemblies and these parts are set out in illustrated plates according to the unit or sub-assembly to which they belong.

A plate consists of: the illustration of parts and assemblies contained in the plate and which differ in shape; to each part shown corresponds one or several part numbers distinguished one from the other by a variant or code sign, and when necessary, tables showing additional information such as starting point, and instructions. These tables figure either at the bottom of the illustration or on a page added to the illustration.

Note: The meaning of the code signs and expressions used on each plate, is indicated on ~~plate n° vi ix~~. [See "Conventional Signs And Expressions" – JJ]

An index to the plates, in front of the latter, gives the relationship between their numbers and their technical descriptions.

A numerical index at the end of the catalogue gives the relationship between the part numbers and the plate numbers, also the quantity of parts per vehicle in the plate under consideration, except for the numbers of standard nuts and bolts. Bulletin 1967/16 gives the meaning of the code numbers of standard nuts and bolts.
